HENRY OWEN LIVERY STABLE IS TORN DOWN AT DUCOR; WAS LANDMARK ON HIGHWAY

DUCOR, April 14 — A landmark from the past — the livery stable on 65 highway at Hot Springs road intersection — was torn down last week by the man who built it in 1907 — Henry Owen, who says that he hated to see the old building go, but it had passed its days of usefulness, and there was just nothing that could be done with it.

Mr. Owen constructed half the 56 by 60-foot building in 1907 and completed it in 1908. He rented it to Jesse Durham, who came to Ducor from Selma to start a livery stable business. Later, Harry West and Ed. Cralle rented and operated the stable, then Henry's brother, George Owen, took it over and operated it "until the cars ran him out of business in about 1918."

The building was not used for a period of several years, then, from 1926 until 1940, Henry Owen used it to stable his own horses, in-

U.S. OLYMPIC TEAM SHOULD BE GREATEST IN HISTORY

This being Olympic year it's about time for a look at the prospects that will represent the U.S. in Rome, Italy, this summer.

The 1960 Olympic team, the track and field team anyway, should be one of the greatest to represent Uncle Sam in modern Olympic history. The only weaknesses that appear at the moment are among the United States distance runners, a spot where we have always hurt.

The two outstanding distance runners in the nation this spring have been Dyrrol Burleson, of the University of Oregon, who has traveled the mile in 4:02 and Ernie Cunliffe, of Stanford University, who just last Saturday whizzed to a 4:02.3 clocking in the mile run. Both are young men, 19-21, in contrast to the European distance runners who are nearly all in their late 20s or early 30s.

The field events should belong to the U.S. team as the greatest crop of discus throwers and shot putters in history have appeared on the scene in the past three years. The shot put record should take a battering as Bill Nieder, who recently put 65 feet to better the existing world's record by two feet, Dallas Long, with a best put of 63 feet, and Parry O'Brien, two time Olympic champion and holder of the existing world's record, will present the most formidable array of shot putting beef to ever grace the circle.

The discus throwers are dominated by Rink Babka, a former U.S.C. thrower, who tossed the platter more than 190 feet on several occasions.

In the sprints the American tradition will be upheld by a number of fleet young men who have tied the world's record of 9.3 seconds. The mark was set originally by Mel Patton in about 1948, and has been tied 13 times but has never been broken. U.S. runners who have tied the mark are Bobby Marrow, 1956 Olympic sprint champ; Ray Norton, former San Jose State runner; Bob Poynter, San Jose State sprinter; Bill Woodhouse, Abilene Christian college cinder smasher.

The decathlon, which has been U.S. property since Bob Mathias copped the 1948 and 1952 titles, is being threatened by Russia's Vladimir Kutnetsov, who currently holds the world's record at 8,357 points. Chief U.S. hopefuls are Rafer Johnson, the Kingsburg youth who holds the U.S. decathlon record at 8,302 and has beaten the Russian in dual meet competition, and Dave Edstrom, the University of Oregon student who became the third man in history to break 8,000 points in the decathlon last weekend.

Here are a few names to watch in the remaining months before the summer games in Rome: Bill Alley, NCAA javelin champ; Don Bragg and Bob Gutowski, pole vaulters who have been flirting

CHAPEL CHIMES

By Rev. N. J.

Are Easter eggs a symbol of Christ's resurrection, Oh, yes. The practice of painting eggs arose among the early-day Christians. Some of their Easter eggs they colored red, to symbolize the blood of Christ shed on the Cross. Other eggs were left white, as a symbol of Christ's purity.

Not until the Civil War was Easter generally observed in America. In the memorial services, Bermuda lilies began to be used, to decorate the church altars. The pure whiteness of the lily speaks of the righteousness of Christ, the "spotless Lamb of God" sacrificed for the sins of the world. The snowy lily also represents the righteousness of all who believe on Him.

"I am the resurrection and the life. He that believeth on Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live." Jesus made this amazing declaration to the sorrowing sisters of Lazarus. This man had been dead four days when Jesus arrived. Jesus walked out to the burial cave. In a loud voice, He commanded, "Lazarus, come forth!" The dead man emerged alive from that tomb!

Jesus taught His disciples, "The Son of man is delivered into the hands of men, and they shall kill Him: and after that He is killed, He shall rise the third day," Mark 9:31.

However, the disciples failed to understand that the Saviour planned to walk out of the tomb on the first Easter morning.

Jesus declared, "Because I live, ye shall live also."

Writing about the coming great Resurrection morning, St. Paul proclaims, "For the Lord Himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first," I Timothy 4:16.

Thanks be to God, the Christian rejoices in the hope of living forever with the Lord!

Prevent Mildew with Niagara Kolodust or Sunland Dusting Sulphur

If you can see mildew in your vineyard, the damage has been done. Prevent mildew before it starts with Niagara Kolodust or Sunland Brand Dusting Sulphur. A little mildew goes a long way in ruining an otherwise profitable grape crop.

For safe, sure protection, use Niagara Kolodust or Sunland Sulphur when the weather is warm enough to fume the sulphur. Both are fine ground, free-flowing and will not plug or clog your duster. For best results, light applications are recommended.

Mites have been reported in some valley vineyards. For dual control of both mites and powdery mildew, Niagara recommends Kolodust-Ethion.

For a low-cost, profit-building dusting program, see your local Niagara Field Representative, or call:

Easter Sunday

The greatest miracle of Easter is not the fact that nearly 2,000 years ago Jesus of Nazareth overcame the bonds of death. The greatest miracle is that 2,000 years later he yet lives through those who seek after him. He is Lord of Life and Prince of Peace in 1960 as he speaks and lives through those who claim him as Master. Each person should go to his chosen place of worship on Easter Day. We all should sing with urgency, "Christ the Lord is Risen." Then each should open his life to this greatest miracle and let Jesus Christ live in human lives today that men may have abundant life.

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

Senator
J. Howard Williams

32nd District
California State Legislature

As is the case at every session, the final moments of our 1960 special session were all hustle and bustle. Those of us with measures still going through the mill were bending every effort to steer them successfully around, over or under obstacles which arose in committee or on the floor of either house. The rest of us were caught up in the pressures of last-minute committee hearings, or floor debates on hotly contended amendments.

Compared to previous special sessions held in even numbered years, this one would appear to stack up very well. Including the proposal to abolish the death penalty (which got the extraordinary treatment of a second special session all its own) there were 40 items on our agenda, which is about average. Legislation related to about three quarters of these items went to the Governor. Another seven or eight subjects have been referred to interim committees for further investigation. Only a very few items were completely rejected.

Special measures are being enacted to put both the $300 million school building and the $400 million veterans home loan issues on the ballot in the June primary election, instead of the November general election. The maximum monthly limit on total loans for school construction has been raised by twenty-five percent. A transfer loan from the general fund, pending receipt of money from sale of the bonds, was provided to accelerate the school program.

Many competent observers regard the legislative enactment of the master plan for our public system of higher education as one of the most significant accomplishments of the special session. Certainly, the plan will do much to enable our institutions to meet the great challenges of the years to come in providing the best quality of higher education in all fields of our California students. It will also do much to end unnecessary and expensive competition between the various types of institutions by spelling out the specific functions of the University, the state colleges, and the junior colleges without setting up a rigid constitutional structure. The interplay of the many differing forces which resulted in this legislation gave a truly graphic demonstration of the political compromises which are a basic factor in our American process of legislation.

The successful enactment of anti-smog legislation was another highlight of our session. The need for some control over the exhaust fumes of motor vehicles in many of our metropolitan areas could not be denied. A major question, however, arose as to what type of legislation should be drafted — a law providing for a strong centralized administration by the State, or one giving the local authorities responsibility for invoking the law, with the State only approving smog control devices. At first, it seemed unlikely that the two poles of this problem could be reconciled, but to the surprise of some, a nice balancing of interests resulted in an effective control measure.

Satisfactory compromises were also worked out in bills to control certain fraudulent practices in the field of home owners' loans and second mortgages which, it was maintained, have cost home buyers millions of dollars in recent years. Last minute Senate amendments preserved the essential features of the original bills.

The end of every session always brings to every legislator a slight sense of regret, and for me, this one is like its predecessors. But I do have a real feeling that our responsibilities to all Californians were properly discharged.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT

ESR Test • Pain • Arthritis

Q. Not long ago I received a bill from a doctor. Among others, there was a charge for an ESR test. What sort of test is this?

A. The abbreviation stands for erythrocyte (red blood cell) sedimentation rate. When blood to which an anticlotting substance has been added is allowed to stand in an upright tube, the red cells gradually settle to the bottom. The rate of settling is altered in certain diseases. A normal sedimentation rate does not necessarily exclude disease, but a fast rate of settling shows that further study is desirable.

Q. Are blondes more sensitive to pain than brunettes?

A. We have no information regarding the relative sensitivity to pain of blondes and brunettes. However, an Australian dentist made a study of eye color and the reaction to pain and found that blue-eyed patients complained very little. The sensitivity to dental pain increased through the blue-grey, green-grey, green, hazel, light brown and dark brown range.

Q. I read in a magazine that bee venom injections cure arthritis. Is this true?

A. Bee venom injections have been tried in cases of arthritis but there is no good medical evidence that such treatment provides satisfactory relief.

ORDINANCE NO. 672 AIMED AT ELIMINATING PHONIES

Always a nuisance problem are the fast-talking, sharpshooting door-to-door salesmen who move into a town, work the citizenry for all they can get, then move on.

The technicality that most of the door-to-door salesmen use to avoid licensing and city regulations is that they are under interstate commerce. If they are so classed, they cannot be licensed by the city.

In an effort to cut down on the foot-in-the-door type of salesmen, and to keep the real phonies out of town, Ordinance No. 672 is now in the mill and will shortly become the law of the city.

This ordinance makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of up to $500, and/or six months in jail for anyone, who does not have a Porterville business address, to go house-to-house without a permit.

Under the new ordinance, a house-to-house solicitor must establish his identity and his business; he must produce a recent photo of himself; he must be fingerprinted; he must provide certain references; and he must state whether or not he has ever been convicted of any crime.

The chief of police has 20 days to determine the truth of the statements of the applicant; after his check, he approves or disapproves the application to solicit. If the application is approved, then the salesman is given a permit, which carries his picture and information about his business. Charge for investigation is $10.00.

And here's a point to remember: Door-to-door salesmen are required to exhibit their permit at the request of any citizen. If you buy from anyone at your door without asking for the permit, or from anyone who does not have a permit, you are asking to be took.

This new ordinance has teeth in it; it is designed to eliminate the fly-by-nighter, which in turn helps the legitimate business man. But the ordinance will be really effective only if housewives, and husbands, use the ordinance by demanding to see the identification of door-to-door salesmen, then, if the identification is not presented, or if information on the solicitation permit does not check with actual selling pitch, call the cops, the city police, to be exact.

There has been a great rash of door-to-door fast talkers working Porterville in recent months. City councilmen hope that the new ordinance, plus general public cooperation, results in elimination of the phonies.

We Only Heard

By BILL RODGERS

IMPRESSIVE INDEED was the National Outstanding Young Farmer Awards banquet in Bakersfield last week, when the U.S. junior chamber of commerce and the American Petroleum Institute selected the four top American young farmers (35 years and under) from among 49 representatives of their respective states. Not only were these young men top farmers, they also had to be community leaders as well to win in their state competition.

WITH THEIR wives, these men represented the finest examples of "grass roots" young Americans; they disproved the often-heard comment that no longer can young men get into farming; they proved that in this year of 1960 a farmer is as much a part of the total community as are the so-called city folks.

BEST REMARK of the evening came from one of the banquet speakers who suggested that the President of the United States, the Secretary of Agriculture, and the Congress of the United States, instead of turning for advise and counsel to the "professional pressure groups in agriculture," might well call together these 49 top young farmers of the nation, along with those similarly honored in the past four years of the program, and listen to what they have to say about farm policies, and the needs of agriculture.

IF YOU bought a ticket on the pickup that the Springville Rodeo association gave away at the annual Springville rodeo last Sunday, but no one has delivered it to you yet, just try again next year. Winner was Jerry Scarbrough, of Hanford.

AND NOW that the Springville rodeo has been staged in its usual fine fashion under sunny spring skies, interest turns to Porterville's two big events — the Porterville Roundup, May 7 and 8, and the Porterville Fair, May 19, 20 and 21. The word is that Porterville's Main street will be decorated for the Roundup on April 24.

WHILE ON the subject of things to come, don't forget the Sportsmen's banquet, Monday evening, April 25; and on June 11 and 12, the famous Moonlight Flight will focus attention of the aviation world on Porterville. Then there will be something new — or perhaps something revived after many years — fireworks at the College stadium on July 4, courtesy of the Porterville Exchange club.

PERHAPS YOU have missed it, but another new industry has moved into the area — south of Lindsay and at Strathmore — an industry based on agriculture, the Malaga Oil Products division of the internationally operating E. F. Drew & Co. Open house at the Lindsay plant on the Southern Pacific tracks, has been set for April 28-30.

tary, Dale Harper, treasurer, and Howard Hickerson, ways and means chairman.

Mrs. Esther Reynolds Bradley recommended that parents read the memo from Dr. James B. Conant's "Our Children's Crucial Age" in the April 12 issue of Look magazine.

Mrs. Myron Giddings, hospital-ity chairman, said that hostesses for Monday evening will be Mesdames Eugene Lindgren, Elmer Wales, Vern Schwartz, and James Darnell.

Our Town

By GARDNER WHEELER

THERE IS MORE TO EDUCATION THAN IS TAUGHT IN BOOKS

THIS DEPARTMENT IS rapidly building up a reputation for "stop and go" writing. While this is quite an honor of a dubious sort, it is not intentional nor deserved. Last week, for instance, we had a clash between the arts and the world of practical business, and the arts came in a poor second to several inches of a profitable advertising. So, when our column is missing, just remember we have been torpedoed by the advertising department.

THIS IS THE WEEK of Easter vacation, and quite properly so, seeing that Easter falls on this coming Sunday. There'd be no sense in having Easter vacation in July, for instance. This is the week when all the scholars from 'round and about our schools are home creating havoc for busy housewives, who are futilely trying to do some spring housecleaning. It is almost an axiom that one child can undo one solid hour of good housekeeping in five minutes time, and two can do the job in one minute flat.

THERE IS ANOTHER VERY good reason for having vacation at this time that recently came to light. We were down at one of the local "greaseries", under duress to be sure, with some of the younger generation recently, eating the standard fare of French fries and milk-shakes. What a diet! Teen-agers can talk as noisily and unsensibly with a mouth full of fries, as they can with an empty mouth to match their heads. The discussion veered around to school in general and the incipient violence of teachers.

WHAT STARTED OUT AS a gentle sparring between students and educators earlier in the year has now taken on a more serious aspect. Patience has worn thinner and thinner on the part of both parties, and a war of nerves seems to be in progress. With their understanding kindness, teen-agers are describing their teachers as "grippers", "grouches" and "Skags". What the teachers think of their pupils is probably no more kindly, but probably somewhat more literate.

THAT IS WHY A VACATION is in order at this time. The educators can retrench, take a deep breath and get ready for the merry sprint to the June finish. After the scholars squabble and hassle around home for a week, the parents will supplant the teachers as "skags", and by comparison, the teachers will look pretty good again. Plainly, there is more to this education proposition, than is taught in books.

APPEAL MADE FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN FUND

VISALIA, Apr. 14 — The Easter Seal drive is $7,000.00 short of the amount needed to help Tulare County's physically handicapped. This is the last week of the 1960 Easter Seal campaign, officials of the Crippled Children's society reminded today.

Porterville's quota is $4,000.00 and to date $1,415.04 has been received. Mrs. Earl Zalud, County campaign chairman, appealed to the large number of local residents who have not mailed their contributions to do so at once and "not disappoint the many crippled children who are looking for Easter Seals for better lives."

STATE FARM PRICES STABLE DURING MARCH

SACRAMENTO, Apr. 14—Prices received by California farmers as of mid-March for most commodities were relatively stable, with a month earlier, according to the California Crop and Livestock Reporting service.

Prices received for hogs, beef cattle, lambs, and potatoes showed good gains during the month, but wholesale milk prices declined seasonally. Oranges advanced moderately but grapefruit declined. Other commodities registered little or no change from the previous month.

Compared with a year ago substantial gains were made by oats, rice, potatoes, hay, alfalfa seed, oranges, lambs, and wool, while material declines were recorded for barley, sorghum grain, cotton lint and seed, grapefruit, hogs, beef cattle, eggs, and milk cows.

Mid-March prices were well above the 1954-58 average for potatoes, hay, alfalfa seed, oranges, beef cattle, calves, and milk cows. Prices substantially below average were received for all grains except oats, cottonseed, grapefruit, lemons, hogs, wool, chickens and eggs.

More than 14,000,000 trees will be seeded this spring at Mt. Shasta and Placerville nurseries of the U.S. Forest service to produce stock for reforestation.

There were 7,927,020 drivers' licenses on record in California as of the end of 1959.

Edison Company Pays $1,947,709 In County Taxes

PORTERVILLE, Apr. 14 — A check in the amount of $973,854.77 was presented to Tulare county, Monday, as the final installment of Southern California Edison company's local property taxes for 1959-60.

This check, together with the first installment which was paid last December 10, brings the total property taxes paid by Edison in this county for the year to $1,947,709.54, according to Roscoe R. Sparks, Porterville, district manager for the electric utility.

Edison is the largest utility taxpayer in this county, Sparks noted, and more than half of its twice-a-year payments goes directly toward the support of public schools.

Edison's 1959-60 property tax bill for 13 counties in Southern and Central California totals $35,196,454.61, an increase of 12.3 per cent over the previous year.

Twenty-nine cents of every dollar of revenue received by Edison goes for payment of local, state and federal taxes which constituted the company's largest single item of expense for the eleventh straight year.

Even if you don't buy a thing and only come in to steal a leaf from our African Violets you should come see the flowers in bloom, for Easter. These are the prettiest we can remember and include Azaleas, Roses, Caladiums, Coleus, Violets, Hydrangeas, and of course Easter Lilies.

There are so many of these stacked around the front door that you may have to buy a couple just to get inside. It'll be worth it though, because these are real honest to goodness growing plants complete with fragrance and fragility — Guaranteed not to be the by-product of a coal mine or manufactured in Hong Kong.

If you don't care too much for flowers or feel you may be trapped into buying these beauties then you may sneak in the back door. This door can be found either by entering from the alley or from Willow street, which adjoins our north edge. If you're even more "chicken" you may call up and we'll deliver your order.

We will be closed on Easter Sunday and recommend you either take it easy after church or plan your garden needs ahead. Really you have earned a rest but if you insist on gardening we have the stuff to get the job done. From weeds to wheelbarrows you can find it on "E" Street north of Olive.

Ant Control Is Important In Young Citrus Trees

By Karl W. Opitz

VISALIA, Apr. 14 — Tulare county citrus growers are warned that ant control is important — especially with young trees.

Last year many young trees were severely injured, and in some cases killed by the Fire Ant (Solenopsis geminata). This pest feeds on tender twigs, bark and leaves. Profuse gumming results. Growers often confuse this reaction with brown rot gummosis. Sometimes the feeding is so extensive that nursery trees or recently planted orchard trees are girdled and die.

Effective control may be obtained by dusting a circle around the tree and covering burrows wherever they may be found with five per cent chlordane dust.

Agriculture's Story Will Be Told By New Farm Group

SACRAMENTO, Apr. 14 — One of California agriculture's oldest partnerships will team up again to tell the true story of agriculture in the state.

Carl F. Wente, former president of the Bank of America and for almost half a century a leader in the development of natural resources in California, last week was named chairman of the board of governors of the Council of California Growers, Inc.

The council is a newly organized statewide farm group dedicated to improving public relations between farmer and consumer.

At the same time the appointment of Wente was announced, John V. Newman, Oxnard orchardist and president of the council, disclosed that O. W. Fillerup, former California Farm Bureau and Wine Institute official, has been designated executive vice president and will establish his headquarters in San Francisco.

Henry Owen

cluding his harvest teams that he used through the 1934 season.

"In all the time that the stable operated, no one was ever refused a night's lodging," Mr. Owen recalls. "In the high water of 1937, an entire family lived on the hay inside the stable until the water went down."

In its "golden days", the livery stable had a bunk room, a harness room, and single and double stalls on both sides of the center section. The Hot Springs stage teams were stabled there, running daily between the Ducor hotel, operated by Mike Mitchell, and the Hot Springs hotel, operated by Joe Mitchell. Driver was Fred Minaker.

Still readable was the stable's "Nitch of Fame", painted many years ago on the outside bunk-house wall by Charlie O'Brien. In the group thus recorded were: Charles Small, George Owen, Chew Mock, Wilco Mentz, Chris Crow and S. T. Gregory.

Mr. Owen planned to cut out this section of wall and save it.

In the old stable was the accumulation of more than a half century—wagon parts, harness, tools, draw chains and such items. Mr. Owen salvaged the material that had historical and sentimental value, including a Studebaker wagon.

The fact that the building had become dangerous led to its final demolition. Mr. Owen has no plans now for development of the corner.
